Rebecca S. Nichols, “The Daguerreotype,” (poem) 1851
(keywords: Rebecca S. Nichols, Ezekiel C. Hawkins, John Sartain, history of the daguerreotype, history of photography.)

THE DAGUERREOTYPE: AN ARCHIVE OF SOURCE TEXTS, GRAPHICS, AND EPHEMERA
The research archive of Gary W. Ewer regarding the history of the daguerreotype http://www.daguerreotypearchive.org
EWER ARCHIVE B8510002

Selected text published in:

THE DAGUERREOTYPE

~~~~~~~~~~~~
INSCRIBED TO E. C. HAWKINS, ESQ.

~~~~~~~~~~~~

“I HAVE brought you a beautiful bird, mamma!—
A bird without feather or wing;
They said, if I spoke not a word, mamma,
The birdie MIGHT whistle and sing!

“Then they caught it, and put it in here, mamma
And fastened it close in its case;
And they told me to bring it to dear mamma,
And ask here to show me its face.”

I opened the clasp, and before me there sat,
Like an alderman, filling his chair,
A queer little rogue, with a mantle and hat,
And solemn and wondering air!

Enraptured I gazed, while the dear little elf
Stood pleading, in vain, to be heard:
“You look a long time, now I want it MYSELF;
Oh, mamma, do give me the bird!”

Thou lark of my bosom, thy dear infant voice
Is sweeter by far to my ear
Than melodies warbled, where forests rejoice,
In the brightness and bloom of the year.

Thou’rt nestled away in the folds of my heart,
Like youth on the bosom of Love;
Oh! never may fowler allure with his art
My sweet “tassel gentle” to rove.

Though storm-winds may rise, and sunder the bough
That shelters thine innocent head,
Yet while it ha vigor to shield thee, as now,
No tempest need fill thee with dread.
The artist who drew my young bird in his snare,
    And penciled, with beams of the sun,
A picture with truth, life, and beauty so rare,
    Has fairly a recompense won.

I’ve coined him a verse from the mint of the mind—
    The trifle to him shall belong:—
With many warm wishes, both friendly and kind,
    Sir Artist, accept of this Song.

[The following portrait serves as the volume’s frontispiece:]
The graphic is also available in JPG format:

http://www.daguerreotypearchive.org/graphics/B8510002_NICHOLS_HEARTH-STONE_1851.php

EDITOR’S NOTES:

The Cincinnati daguerreotypist, Ezekiel Hawkins, received the dedication of this poem. Hawkins also took the daguerreotype of Nichols that serves as the frontispiece portrait of this volume.

A daguerreotype of Nichols is mentioned in a review of Hawkins’ gallery in “Hawkin’s [Hawkins—ed.] Daguerre Pictures,” Botanico-Medical Recorder (Cincinnati) 12:10 (23 March 1844): 159.

EWER ARCHIVE B8510002

URL: http://www.daguerreotypearchive.org/texts/B8510002_NICHOLS_HEARTH-STONE_1851.pdf
Document author: Gary W. Ewer
Creation date: 2009-02-13 / Last revision: 2016-06-29
Graphic details:
- title: Rebecca S. Nichols
- engraving: (image area) 10.0 x 8.8 cm
- sheet: 20.4 x 14 cm
A high-resolution TIF-format file may be available. Contact the Archive for details.
Prepared from: an original volume. Also available from Google Books.
(http://books.google.com/books?id=zc4CAAAAYAAJ)
Original spelling/punctuation/grammar generally maintained without correction. Any in-text corrections are bracketed.
The source text is Public Domain and may be freely quoted. As noted below, this document is copyright.
If citing directly from this document, please reference the Ewer Archive number and provide the following citation credit:

THE NECESSARY DISCLAIMERS:
The document creator has made every effort to insure the accuracy of the transcription. However, the information provided in this document is provided without warranty, either express or implied. The document creator will not be liable for any damages caused or alleged to be caused directly, indirectly, incidentally, or consequentially by the information provided by this text.
The document creator assumes no responsibility for accuracy of fact; the text is prepared “as found.” Factual inaccuracies of the original text are generally not noted by the document creator. If this text is used in academic papers, accuracy should be confirmed by consulting original sources.
The document creator also assumes no responsibility regarding the correctness, suitability, or safety of any chemical or photographic processes that may be described by this text. Many of the chemicals used in early photographic processes are extremely toxic and should not be handled without a thorough knowledge of safe use.

The opinions expressed in this text are solely those of the original author and are not necessarily those of the Archive editor. Some texts may contain derogatory words. Any such word is certainly one that would not be used today. The words remain in the transcription, however, to maintain truthfulness to the original text.